FRIDAY, MAY 5, 1893.

Louisville had a $300,000 fire Tuesday night.

Twenty thousand coal miners of Ohio struck Monday for an advance of five cents a ton for mining.

Louisville has voted to give $1,000,000 for the removal of the State capital to that city.

Grover pressed the button at Chicago last Monday and the great World's show immediately became a thing of animation. Truly he is a man of great power.

The business failures in the United States the past week numbered 238, an increase of thirty over those of the previous week, and twenty-seven over those of the corresponding week last year.

The fact that there were no gold exports from New York Saturday and no engagement of gold for export Tuesday is taken as an indication that confidence has been restored by Secretary Carlisle's statement to the New York Bankers.

Princeton Banner: The State has paid in round numbers $140, 000 to absent members who were either frolicking around or at home attending to their private business.
And still some of them are candidates for re-election, and many will doubtless be returned. At hood-winking their constituents they are more successful than as legislators.

A plan of suspending the sugar bounty, says a Washington dispatch, without waiting for the slow action of Congress, has been suggested to President Cleveland, and may be adopted. The plan consists in a simple order from the Secretary of the Treasury forbidding further payment of the bounties, the object being to secure a decision from the United States Supreme Court upon the question whether the payment of gratuities to private individuals out of money raised by taxation of the people is within the power of Congress under the Constitution.

It is a Business Issue.

The fact that Grover Cleveland is President, with all resources of the nation at this command, should have forbidden distrust of the national credit, or fears of any financial policy that could lessen business tranquility. Mr. Cleveland, in his plain and emphatic utterance on the subject given out yesterday, simply repeated his faith and purpose, as he has often declared them in the past; but in periods of uneasiness, it is well to repeat what all know who take pause to consider; and that is what the President did.

The present financial distrust will not be without its good results. It teaches so plainly that he who runs may read, how unwise has been our patch-work system of financial legislation. We are to-day, and have been for some months, borrowing to buy silver that we don't want, and that is daily aggravating the financial situation by its increases. There is no law to stop this midsummer madness, but the severe lesson we are now learning will surely hasten the repeal of the silver law when Congress shall be called.

Another important lesson may be learned from the present financial distress. The present condition is not of President Cleveland's creation. He retired in 1889 leaving a surplus of $98,000,000 of free gold in the Treasury. When he came back in 1893, he found the gold reserve of $100,000,000, and he must deal with conditions as his predecessor left them.

If financial legislation shall be made a partisan issue, there will be serious disturbance to business; if honest men of all parties shall rule in the interest of the country, there will be speedy relief, and a sound financial policy, established On this point business men, especially of Republican faith, should make themselves heard and felt.

The troubles of to-day come from one disgraceful partisan movement made in the House at the close of the last Congress. Under the lead of Representative Harrows, a reckless Republican partisan, 34 Republicans voted against the repeal of the Sherman law solely and avowedly because they wished to embarrass the coming administration

Had they voted their convictions, the purchase of silver would have been ended, confidence would have been restored in our credit at home and abroad, and none would now be thinking of a premium on gold.
The time has come when the substantial business interests of the country must stand together, for they are threatened by revolutionists in all parties. The battle will be between legitimate business interests and the howl of the agrarian; for cheap and dishonored money means the destruction of all honest values. Let business men of all parties make themselves heard and felt on this issue, and let them be gun now. The crisis is close at hand, and the result means either business tranquility or business paralysis.—Philadelphia Times.

Mr. Carlisle and Wall Street.

Mr. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury, has been having a sharp toss with Wall Street the past week.
Wall Street has been dictating the financial policy of the government so long, it was, of course, amazed and exasperated to find that Mr.
Carlisle was not going to do its will, but, on the contrary, would conduct his department for the best interests of the people, so far as he comprehended those interests.

The bankers of New York sought to coerce Mr. Carlisle by creating a financial panic by large shipments of gold coin abroad, thus compelling the Secretary of the Treasury to issue bonds, which the banks are greedy to get, in order to prolong the present national banking system as far into the future as possible. Instead of calling for an issue of bonds, as the banks hoped he would, Mr. Carlisle fearlessly took another slant out of the difficulty, and met the heavy drafts upon the treasury gold by paying out several millions of the hundred million dollars "reserve," about which so much has been written of late days. The crisis was met manfully, and there was hardly a ripple upon the financial sea. Confidence in Mr. Carlisle, and in the measures of his policy, have been expressed by honest bankers and capitalists in all parts of the country, and thus do we see the good results of placing a big, brainy, honest, and incorruptible Democrat in the Treasury department of our government, which has for years been presided over by tools of the money barons of Wall Street. All honor to the great Kentuckian.—Clinton Democrat.

The Sugar Bounty.

In the discussion of the sugar bounty law the fact must be admitted that it has accomplished its purpose of stimulating the production of domestic sugar. The reports of the Sugar Bureau show a large increase in production of the sugar crop last year and promise a still greater increase next year.
Although the last crop of sugar was a large one there is an increase of 25 to 30 per cent in the acreage in cane this season, which, with good weather, means one of the largest crops ever known.

It is predicted that the crop of beet sugar will be doubled, and there is an increase of maple sugar.
There is, therefore, an assurance that this season's production of all varieties of sugar will be the largest ever known in this country.
This is mainly due to the effect of the bounty law which has worked as a similar law did in France where the production of sugar has been so increased that Europe supplies itself with sugar now and has some for exportation, whereas it formerly depended upon the West Indies for its sugar supply.—Cincinnati Post.

The clergymen of Philadelphia held a meeting last Friday to discuss the cholera danger. It resulted in the appointment of a committee of 150 representative clergymen to wait upon the Mayor and urge him to use his power to the utmost and without delay. It was also suggested in way of co-operation of the clergy which the city authorities that a certain Sunday be appointed for the preaching of sermons by ministers throughout the city on the duty of taking every precaution to prevent the cholera plague. This plan ought to yield good practical results, if sensational "sear-sermons" are avoided and definite ways pointed out for the participation of each individual in the work of cleaning up the city and improving its sanitary condition. The clergy have a very strong influence with the class that must be depended upon to meet an emergency of this kind. It is encouraging to note this endeavor on the part of the clergies to "excommunicate" the comma bacillus.— in a colony of cholera morbus. He icine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as likely to be of service to try it. The result was immediate relief and a few doses cured him completely.

rrhoea. It never fails. For sale by Mr. Editor: As I haven't seen anything from this place in the News, will give you a line or two.

Hope same will be acceptable.

Owing to the extremity of wet weather this week, farming is receiving but little attention in the upper "Tug" country.

Mrs. Calista Parsley, has been spending a few days with relatives at Bridge branch.

"Fishing time" is here, and many seem to appreciate its appearance.
Miss Ella Mead, the estimable little daughter of our postmaster, has been on the sick list a few days, we are pleased to say, is much better.

The protracted rise in Tug, is enabling scores of timbermen to get their timber to market.

Mrs. George Mead, is very poorly at this writing. We hope nothing serious will terminate.

Mr. A. J. Parsley, who has been confined at home, the last five months past, from the painful effects of rheumatism, is improving slowly.

Saturday and Sunday next, Rev.
C. W. Myers, of Williamson, expects to hold a quarterly meeting at Camp creek, (near here). We hope much good may originate therefrom.

Our Baptist brethren will hold their next communion meeting at this place on the 13th and 14th of May. They call it "an old fashioned foot washing." We think so, too, yet many will participate.

The "Pan-Handle" school election will be disposed of, May 16th.
We hear of several prospective candidates for county supt. of Wayne.
We hope the one who has the devoted sympathy for the teachers, may "get there."

Success to the News.

Lord, Protect Him!

The prayers of the pious press-gang are solicited for a brother in peril. Editor Cooper, of the Haz-devil. He announces that he has been solicited to make the race for Representative, and whether with effrontery or contrition can not be ascertained from a distance, confesses that he "is now considering is not a propriety, but an impropriety. He should not establish a precedent that might end in compelling the reformers and constitutional lawyers and masters of civilized, who are now regulating the State from their sanctuaries, to put their theories to the pitiless test of practice."—Courier Journal.

All the members except Atkins and Stewart were present.

Marshal was directed to notify all parties who had been ordered to pave to proceed at once with the work, or show cause at the next meeting of the Board why the work was not done.

R. T. Burns was allowed thirty-five dollars as credit on taxes.

The following claims were presented:

Snyder Bros $18.50; B. F. Thomas $8.80; G. W. Wroten 7.50; Wm.
Beltssett 100.00.

Assessor Shannon presented his tax books for 1892 which were received and filed. He had taken 286 lists and was allowed 12 1/2 cents per list.

W. A. Copley, J. Q. Lackey and G. W. Wroten were appointed a board of Supervisors.

Charles Crutcher was allowed eight dollars for making crossing from Spencer's corner to public square.

The clerk was directed to ascertain the amount of interest due on certain bonds held by the bank of Louisa and draw an order for the same.

Sachs and Davis were exonerated from paying poll tax for 1892, they not being citizens of the United States.

Change of Trains.

A change in the time and class of trains on the Ohio & Big Sandy will go into effect on Sunday, the 11th inst. It is to be almost the same as the old schedule in effect a year or two ago. The passenger train will be discontinued, much to the chagrin of the public, who will again be compelled to choose between traveling behind a train of coal cars and one of freight cars.

One train will leave Peach Orchard at 6 a. m., and the morning train out of Ashland will be scheduled about as at present.

The only advantage in the change is that the train leaving Peach Orchard in the morning will run Sundays.

These are we advancing backward.
After having one train which ran on time and gave reasonably decent accommodation, the return to the mixed trains will raise a louder howl from the traveling public than has been heard before.

Will the rate of four cents a mile be continued, notwithstanding the little regard for the convenience and comfort of the passengers?
The public seems to have no rights at all.

ley; D. D. Branham, Clifford; John Thompson, Webbville; W. D.
O'Neal, Besseyville; Aug. Snyder

The Sam Davis Case.

The counsel for Sam Davis is applied to the court last week for a new hearing on the ground that some of the jury were ineligible because of opinions expressed before the trial. The jury were summoned and brought before the court and examined on the matter. The charges were not sustained, however, and the motion for a new trial was overruled. The case will not be let on to our young men, who have heretofore felt that a pistol was necessary to constitute a full dress, and that they may consider well the remark made by Judge Harvey in pronouncing his sen-

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Pardoned.

The Governor has pardoned Ed.
Carter, one of the boys who was sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for house breaking, and was taken to Frankfort this week.
He returned with the Sheriff. He is about 16 years of age and was led into the crime by older boys.

The venerable Mr. N. C. Waldeck has been quite sick for several days. He has been threatened with an attack of fever.

The coal and construction trains have been taken off the O. & B. S.

Little Roland Williamson, at Mr. R. T. Burns', is suffering from an attack of measles.

Hon. S. S. Vinson, of Ceredo, has been appointed United States Marshal for the district of West Virginia, and C. C. Watts district attorney.

The Post Office was removed last Saturday to the second building above Gunnell's store. The change was made in response to the requests of a majority of business men and citizens. The mail bags for the early morning train are now closed at 6 o'clock, fast time; for the up train at 9:30; for the afternoon down train at 3:05.

Died, last Friday afternoon, at her home near Louisa, the wife of Maneas Wellman. The burial took place on Saturday. The ceremonies were conducted by Rev. J.
S. Cox. Deceased leaves a husband and seven children, the youngest being a babe of a few weeks.

Mrs. Wellman was highly respected Christian woman and the community is in deep sympathy with the bereaved.

A woman named Bradford, hailing from Prestonburg, was tried here a few days ago on a charge of lunacy, but the investigation proved the trouble to be downright meanness. She threw a rock and struck a peddler whom she met in the road at Fullers, four miles below here.

It must be very "common" law indeed which declares that persons under the age of fourteen years are incapable of knowing right from wrong, and thereby not amenable to statutes and ordinances. A boy of thirteen years, eleven months and twenty-nine days may not be punished for breaking into a store and making way with the contents of the money drawer, but if the owner catches the thief in the act and gives him a sound thrashing he may be punished for assault. The thing doesn't even up very well.

The Logan, W. Va., Circuit Court was getting pretty close to the record recently made in this county.
They sent one man to the penitentiary for life, and sent six others for terms varying from three to eighteen years.

The Executive Committee of the recent Kentucky inter-collegiate oratorical contest has sustained charges of plagiarism preferred against Mr. J. H. Swango, the winner, and has ordered him to return the prize awarded him. It is said Mr. Swango will ignore the action of the committee, as the faculty of Centre College supports him in the controversy.

The resumption of work on the Government dam at Louisa moves the Paintsville Courier to remark that "work on this dam was commenced some ten years ago, and according to the present rate at which they are progressing will probably be completed fifty years hence, and we feel sure its many advantages will be appreciated by our posterity."—C. J.

In Logan county, W. Va., last week Juba P. Fleming was sentenced to eighteen years in the penitentiary for the murder of John Mullen, on Big creek, last Christmas.
He was discharged after the examining trial, but was re-arrested and tried by the circuit court. The Logan Banner says: "The sentence was a just one, the verdict having given the full measure of mercy. We hope the lesson will not be lost on our young men, who have heretofore felt that a pistol
well the remark made by Judge
Harvey in pronouncing his sentence, that "a man who would enjoy a pistol was either a coward or an outlaw."

The Weather of May.

Following is Fra L. Hicks' weather prediction for May:

Cool days and frosty nights, following last April storm period, will give place to warmer stormy weather about the 2nd and 3rd. Sharp, frosty nights need not surprise two or three days before the 7th and 8th, about which time it will turn very warm, and active storms are liable about the 8th, 9th, and 10th.
Temperature will fall to the frost period. The 14th and 15th will bring sudden and extreme warmth with much tendency to cyclonic storms on and about these dates.
Watch them! Cooler up to next storm period, running, from 18th to 22nd. About these dates expect very warm weather, to end in hard storms. This is true also for 25th and 26th and dates touching them.
May will end growing warmer, with storm growing and moving from the West. Watch and see.

well pleased with the debate. The subject was Resolved, That there is more pleasure in possession than there is in pursuit. Discussed by Emmet Duvall, G. B. Carter and B.
F. Diamond on the affirmative. J.
G. Talbert, W. J. Vaughn and David Curnutt on the negative.

The judges returned a decision in favor of the negative.

A great many of our citizens are

THE PRESIDENT.

Enthusiastic Chicagoans Welcome the Nation's Chief Magistrate.

As the Presidential Carriage Reached the Lake Shore, the Army Division's Gun Belched Forth, This Time in a Salute to the Nation's Chief.

CHICAGO, May 1.—At 9:50 Saturday a committee consisting of Gov. Altgeld and staff, Mayor Harrison and cabinet, a committee from the city council, Col. Clark, Director-General Davis, Secretary Dickinson and National Commissioner Adlai T. Ewing took a special train and met President Cleveland's train at the Illinois state line. The car was quickly attached to the presidential train and the party arrived in the city shortly after noon.

The president cordially greeted the governor and the World's fair mayor and necessarily congratulated them on the result of the recent campaign. The members of the reception committee were in turn introduced to the president and his cabinet officials, who held a reception while the train was drawing near to its destination.

At the depot President Palmer and President Higginbotham greeted the party and welcomed its members to the great exposition. Gov. Altgeld had performed this ceremony on the part of the state, and now Mayor Harrison heartily welcomed the president to the city. The president thanked the officials in a few words and the party was quickly assigned to their carriages.

The trip to the Lexington hotel, on Twenty-second street, was then begun. Troops B, Seventh U. S. cavalry, commanded by Capt. Varnum; the Second regiment, Illinois national guard, commanded by Col. Judd; Troop A, Illinois national guard, commanded by Capt. First U. S. artillery, commanded by Capt. Capron.

Following the soldiers came twenty-five carriages occupied by the national states' municipal officials, the citizens committee and members of the national commission and exposition. President Cleveland, Gov. Altgeld and Mayor Harrison occupied the fifth carriage, Vice-President Stevenson, President Palmer and President Higginbotham the next, and the member of the cabinet, accompanied by a fair officer, the next eight carriages. Maj. Gen. Miles and personal staff occupied the next two, and the remainder were occupied by the governor's staff and city officials. The route of the parade was crowded with a cheering host of enthusiastic citizens and the reception tendered the duke of Veragua faded into insignificance when compared with the ceremony which extended to the president. It was with difficulty that the police kept the surging crowds from rushing into the streets. As the president's carriage reached the lake shore, Andy Johnson's guns again belched forth, this time the presidential salute. The soldiers who had escorted the duke earlier in the day were drawn up at this point and saluted the president as his carriage passed them.

Arriving at the Lexington hotel the escort was dismissed, and the president quickly retired to the beautiful apartments which he had reserved for himself. He then hunched and prepared to review the Liberty Bell procession later in the day.

CARLISLE AND THE BANKERS.

The World and the Times Have Different Versions.

New York, May 1.—Two leading morning papers claim to have all the facts in connection with the secret meeting between Secretary Carlisle and the New York bankers last Thursday.

The World says the secretary read the riot act to the bankers in a very pleasant way, charging that they had set themselves up for months past to dictate the financial policy of the government from their point of view. He hinted very strongly that the bankers were working for a purpose, in giving up some of their spare fifty millions in gold, and declared that their policy would not succeed, as no bonds would be issued.

The liberation of that fifty millions, which the bankers could spare without trouble, would open many another private vault, and soon the gold famine would be a memory. The bankers gave no definite promise, but since the formal announcement was made that no bonds would be issued, there remains no excuse for the New Yorkers keeping a clutch on their gold, and they will soon turn over a large sum.

The Times says one proposition submitted by Mr. Carlisle was that the treasury and the bank pool their gold, and whenever the gold in the treasury fell below the $100,000,000 reserve the banks make the difference good. This was declined, the bankers still insisting that a bond issue was the only satisfactory remedy.

Both Eyes Gone.

LIMA, O., May 1.—Sunday afternoon James Gorman, aged 18, was playing with several companions. First one kind of an innocent joke, then another, was perpetrated, and finally one of the boys picked up a bottle and threw its contents into Gorman's eyes. He screamed, brought other members of his family to him, and they quickly saw that almost a quart of ammonia had burned the boy's face horribly. A physician was called, and he discovered that both the boy's eyes were so burned that he was hopelessly blind.

Murderers Surrendered.

DEXTER, May 1.—A Durango special says Lieut. Plummer has succeeded in inducing the Indians to surrender the murderers of Trust Weich, which lessens the danger of an Indian war. Castano and his followers are arming, however, for a fight.

Numerous armed parties have started to the scene of the trouble, seventy miles away. Government troops are at Durango, and the situation is regarded as critical. A courier just arrived from Farmington says that Lieut. Plummer, fearing trouble, soon released the murderers of Agnes Welch after they had been given up. He had no troops.

Hill-Stones as Large as Oranges.

ALTON, Ill., May 1.—Saturday morning the country northwest of this city was visited by a severe hail-storm. The average size of the hail-stones was as large as an orange, one picked up at Melville measuring seventeen and one-half inches in circumference. At Monticello seventy three hundred window lights were knocked out. In many instances roofs were shattered by the flying balls of ice. The Missouri, Kansas and Eastern road's new tracks were washed away, causing a loss of at least $100,000. The Mississippi is now two miles wide here.

VESSIE.

As "Cato" hasn't written anything for some time we will try and give the reader a few items from this "suck of the woods."

Several of our neighbors are stricken down with that dread disease known as Spring fever, the old remedy still prevails, that is to go fishing.

Asbury Queen and Evalin Glyn was calling on friends here last week.

John S. Riffe and John Albright has rented Wm. Riffe's farm. They will farm part of it and graze the balance with sheep.

While out fishing last week Dr. Sparks had the misfortune to fall in the creek. It's generally supposed he found a good place and while waiting for a bite went to sleep and slipped into the water.

HORSEFORD.

Dear Editor!—As I haven't written to the News for some time I thought I would write a few items.

Mrs. J. W. Shortridge was calling on friends at Horseford Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. W. M. Cooksey was visiting one of his girl friends at Cataula last Sunday. Wonder if he will call again?

We had a nice box supper at this place last Friday night, but the girls were very much disappointed. Their best fellows failed to call on the above evening.

Two weeks more will end the school at this place, which has been taught by Miss Judie More. After her school, closes she expects a position as clerk in J. A. Collinsworth store at Fallsburg.

Mr. J. H. Thompson is farming very extensively this season.

David H. Thompson paid his friends and relatives a visit on Cat's Fork Sunday last.

Mr. Jeff Brumfield's little child is very ill at this writing. Also, Mrs. E. M. Smith has been very ill for the past several weeks, but we are glad to say that she is very much improved at present.

If this is so unfortunate as to escape the waste basket, I will write another letter for the News in the near future.

The greatest of all duties is the present one.

When we try to please everybody we shall please nobody.

Chipping a tiger's claw never makes him lose his taste for blood.

There are too many people who are only pious when things go right.

He prescribed such treatment as he thought necessary, and returned home by the way of Seed Tick.
